let aboutMe = [

Trained in graphic design and communication, I developed my career in editorial project management where my meticulousity, attention to detail and time management took their chance to excel.

I am always looking forward to learn new stuff and I like to use my sense of humor (extensively) in my work environment, never forgetting the line that separates personal life from work. Reborn into this passion I discovered for coding, I embark now on this new adventure as a front-end developer.

I love a challenge, specially when it comes to deep diving into the detailed documentation of a new framework!
